U. S. GUNNERS BAG 30 AXIS FIGHTER CRAFT

Flying Fortresses Take Heavy Toll in Furious Air Battle Over Italian Islands.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 6—A furious air battle developed over Germany yesterday during a Flying Fortress raid on that Sicilian airfield, allied headquarters announced today. The American gunners shot down 30 of approximately 100 attacking enemy fighters.

The communique described the resistance there as "vigorous."

Other allied air squadrons inflicted damage on three other landing fields in Sicily—at Licata, Marsala and Sciacca, the war bulletin said.

Allied plane losses were placed at 12 during yesterday and the night before, when night bombers blasted targets at Villacidro, in Sardinia, and at Catania, in Sicily.

60 Liberators Attack

More than 60 Liberator bombers based in the Middle East joined in the devastating raids, shaking Messina in Sicily with nearly 375,000 pounds of bombs, a communique of the U. S. Ninth air force declared.

Hits blanketing the ferry terminal installations in Messina "caused extensive damage," the communique said, and bombs were laid on railway tracks, a roundhouse, a warehouse, freight yards, oil tanks and barracks by the Liberators striking in three waves. One string of bombs "fell across the Lazaretto mole."

The Liberators downed three enemy planes and returned without loss themselves.

The headquarters war bulletin reported during yesterday and the night before the northwest African air forces had knocked down 42 aircraft, including the 30 at Gerbini.

(In contrast, the German communique as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press asserted the British-American air forces lost 51 planes, mostly four-engined bombers, "in repeated thrusts against the Sicilian coasts yesterday."

Italy Reports Damage

(The Italian communique, recorded by The Associated Press, said the raids at Messina, Catania and Marsala caused "limited" damage and casualties. This communique reported an axis raid on the harbor of Bizerte, claim not immediately confirmed by allied sources.)

The swarms of enemy fighters met yesterday over Gerbini gave new indications that the axis had rushed aerial reinforcements to the Mediterranean theater, where the week-end saw the allied offensive reach a new peak of intensity with many air attacks on Sicily and Sardinia and a British commando-type jab at Crete.

Small bodies of British troops dashed on to the beaches of axis-held Crete from shallow draft vessels Sunday night, raided airfields, destroyed grounded planes, left a number of oil dumps afire, and withdrew safely. The raid was announced last night in a Cairo communique.

In a broadcast to the Greek patriots on Crete, the British ministry of information in London quickly pointed out that "this is not an invasion" and cautioned them not to betray themselves by premature resistance.

Chiang Sees Jap Defeat Due Within Two Years

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, July 6—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek told China today on the eve of the sixth anniversary of the outbreak of the conflict with Japan the time limit for utter defeat of the aggressor "cannot exceed two years."

"In the seventh year of our war of resistance," he said in his anniversary message, "an offensive that will deal crushing blows to the enemy will be started in various theaters of the world and there will be an unending stream of victories."

"Our war of resistance and the world war situation on this day have reached the highest peak of our uphill struggle," he went on. "One step beyond will be smooth sailing for us."

His message was one of a series of confident predictions from Chinese leaders of a complete allied victory and elimination of Japan as a military power.

POLISH PREMIER DIES IN CRASH

Churchill Calls Accident Heavy Blow to Allies; 14 Others Lose Lives.

(Picture on Page 9)

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 6—Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons today the death of General Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government-in-exile who was killed Sunday in an air crash at Gibraltar, is "one of the heaviest strokes we have sustained."

At the same time the house advised that Brig. Gen. J. P. Whiteley, a member of parliament, was among the 15 persons killed in the crash of the Liberator aircraft which was bearing Sikorski home from an inspection of Polish forces in the Middle East.

Representatives of the Polish government looked on from the galleries as the prime minister solemnly told the house that "we learned yesterday that the cause of the United Nations has suffered a most grievous loss."

Sikorski, who in addition to being premier had served as commander-in-chief of the Polish armed forces, "commandered the devoted loyalty of the Polish people, now tortured and struggling in Poland itself," Churchill said.

Sikorski's body lay in state today in the Roman Catholic cathedral in Gibraltar.

Beside him lay the body of General Tadeusz Klimecki, chief of the Polish general staff, who met death in the same accident.

The crash took the lives of 12 other persons, including General Sikorski's 29-year-old daughter, Mrs. Sophia Lesniowskac; Colonel Andzej Marecki, chief of the Polish army operational section and an expert in military science; Colonel Gralewski; Lieutenant Pobiewski, Sikorski's naval aid; Adam Kulakowski, the premier's private secretary, and Colonel Victor Alexander Cazalet, a member of the British parliament.

Only survivor of the crash was the pilot of the plane.

It was reported in London that the mishap was due to an engine failure.

NAVAL ACADEMY EXAMINATION SET

One Appointment To Be Made from Eighth District.

Cong. Frederick C. Smith of Marion, in a communication from Washington, today announced that a civil service examination will be conducted on July 31 at various post offices throughout the Eighth Ohio congressional district to select candidates for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland. There is one vacancy existing at the Naval Academy. The appointee will enter the Academy in July 1944.

Federal statutes provide that each congressional district may be represented by five midshipmen at the Naval Academy at all times. Vacancies occur only when midshipmen are graduated, discharged or resign.

Each Naval Academy appointment consists of one principal and three alternates. Principal and alternates will be selected according to the results of the civil service examination to be conducted on July 31, Cong. Smith said. There being one vacancy at Annapolis, the person making the highest grade in the examination will be designated as principal. The next highest, first alternate and the next highest second alternate, etc.

Cong. Smith stated that any young man who is a citizen of the

MIDDLETON NAMED TO APPEALS COURT

Bellefontaine Judge To Succeed the Late Phil Crow.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 6—Gov. Bricker today appointed George S. Middleton, a Bellefontaine attorney, to the third district court of appeals.

Middleton succeeds the late Phil M. Crow of Kenton and will serve as appeals court judge until a successor is elected in the November 1944, election.

The governor's office disclosed that of numerous prospective appointees for the judgeship, the selection had been narrowed to Middleton and Ferd G. Behrens of Napoleon, Henry county Republican chairman.

SPITFIRES GET SEVEN NAZI PLANES TODAY

No. RAF Craft Lost in Battles Over Continent.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 6 — RAF Spitfires destroyed seven German fighter planes in a sweep over northern France this morning, it was announced. None of the British planes was lost.

Allied planes, including many squadrons of fighters, roared over the channel toward the French coast in brilliant sunshine this morning as a Berlin broadcast was reporting raids on Germany last night by British bombers.

There were no immediate announcements concerning any night activities over the reich, but the Berlin broadcast said enemy planes had carried out "nuisance raids" over western and northern Germany.

During the night an RAF plane damaged an armed vessel of about 500 tons in a low level attack off the Dutch coast, the air ministry news service said.

U. S. Army headquarters announced meanwhile, that photographs had disclosed "satisfactory" results in the Sunday bombing of the Gnome-Rhone Aero factory at Le Mans, France, by Eighth air force bombers.

The announcement said a considerable portion of the main building at the Le Mans factory was damaged.

Week-End and Holiday Pass Quietly in Marion

Independence Day in Marion this year was one of the quietest in recent years as the combination week-end holiday passed with only routine activity for city police and other law enforcement officers in Marion county.

Only three intoxication arrests were made by police for the two days. No injuries resulting from the handling of fireworks were reported. In fact, no complaints were received about fireworks.

Chief William E. Marks terms the number of intoxication arrests as unusually small for a holiday. He said that as many as a dozen such arrests were made on Independence Day of other years.

County's Draft-Free Men Combed for Farm Workers

Letters Sent Out in One of New Efforts To Help Relieve Serious Shortage of Harvest Workers.

Letters were sent out last week by Arthur Smith, county agricultural agent, to draft-free Marion men with experience in farm work inquiring as to their availability for either full or part time work on Marion county farms for the remainder of the summer. Several responses to these letters have been received but all have stated that the individual already had steady employment and would not be available for farm work of any sort.

Before these inquiries were issued by Mr. Smith, a complete list of Marion men over 38, in 4-F, or exempted for any other reason, and with farm experience was furnished him by the local draft board. Any of the men who, by their response, show any intention if working on farms this summer, will be interviewed by O. E. Barks, special farm labor assistant, as soon as possible.

Little Response to Appeals

This measure is just one of several steps taken by county farm officials to solve the now extremely serious farm labor situation. About two weeks ago an appeal for volunteer workers from the city of Marion was issued by Mr. Barks and Mr. Smith. However, up to the end of last week only one man had responded to the requet for part time workers. He is a factory worker who is aiding on a county farm in the afternoon.

Two farms in the southern part of the county received some much-needed adult labor last week for important wheat harvesting, most of which is being done this week, and soybean harvesting, which will be at its peak in late September. Two men were registered by Mr. Barks for steady employment on the two farms south of the city. Grown men like these are especially desired by farmers in Marion county because of the heavy nature of work done on farms in this section of the country. Much of the farming, especially harvesting, requires the use of heavy machinery.

Seeks Workers on Streets

Farm officials have been resorting to some labor-procuring methods that they did not ever dream of when the ugly face of the labor-problem gremlin first cast its ominous shadow over Marion county farmland early this spring. Mr. Barks reports that last week he stopped several men on the street and asked them if they had a job anyplace. The standard answer was found to be "yes." However, one man who replied that he was not employed put forth an excuse of a sprained wrist to avoid registering for farm work.

Some farmers breathed a sigh of relief the latter part of last week for barley harvesting had been completed for 1943. However, their moment of satisfaction was short indeed, for haymaking was at its greatest volume last Saturday. Moreover, wheat harvesting this week will pose the greatest problem to farmers so far this year, Mr. Barks stated.

Although the draining of manpower by the armed forces has been the main cause of the present critical labor problem in Marion county a second reason almost as important has been the result of high wages paid by city industries, officials report. Before restricitions on workers transferring from the farm to city industrial positions became so rigid, many Marion county men did that very thing. The wages of farm work could not compete with the kind of money paid in the city. Therefore, a sizeable influx of Marion county farmers to the city up until a few months ago developed. Now, hardly any farmers switch to higher-paying city jobs but the damage has been done, farm officials point out.

Equipment Problem Eased

An equipment shortage during wheat season was at first thought to present a greater problem than the labor shortage. However, Mr. Barks reports that any dearth of machinery will undoubtedly be solved thanks to the generosity of the state rationing board.

Eight combines alloted by the board have arrived in Marion county where they will be used extensively this week. These combines were orginally scheduled to be used in bean harvesting in the fall, but the state board changed the shipment to this month in order to help county farmers with their wheat harvesting. These combines are being purchased jointly by county farmers and will be used on a cooperative basis. A total of 22 were allotted earlier this year to Marion county.

Former Marion Bombardier In Flying Fort Raids on France

Staff Sgt. John L. Creviston Helps Pound Axis; In Plane Attacked by German Fighter Pilot.

A former Marion man, Staff Sgt. John L. Creviston, now with the Army air corps somewhere in England, took part in U. S. Flying Fortress raids on Le Mans, France, Sunday, The Associated Press reported today.

Sgt. Creviston, a bombardier aboard the fort "Flower the Second" told an AP reporter at an undisclosed British bomber station that his ship was chased by a German Focke-Wulf during the raid on the mainland stronghold. He said the gunner of another fortress brought the Nazi craft down.

He is the son of Mrs. Marietta Creviston, who is now living in Upper Sandusky and Frank Creviston of Kenton. His mother formerly was employed as an aid at the City hospital.

He attended Harding High school and while a senior there transferred to a Cleveland school. At Harding High he was student manager of the football team, a member of the Hi-Y and active in various other extra-curricular activities.

He enlisted in the Army at Cleveland in March of 1940. He was first sent to Camp Forrest, Tenn., and later to bombardier schools in the western part of the country. He was sent overseas about three months ago.

While apparently on a bomber raid on June 22, Sgt. Creviston was wounded. A week later he was released from an England hospital, his mother was informed by the war department.

She received a letter from him yesterday in which he stated he would like to have some candy.

While in Marion, Sgt. Creviston and his mother lived at 524 Mt. Vernon avenue.

FIRE CAUSES $100,000 DAMAGE AT GALION

New Addition to War Plant Is Destroyed.

GALION, July 6—A spectacular early morning fire, Sunday, Galion's second destructive fire to a war industry plant within a month, levelled the new addition, a south wing of the Perfection Steel Body plant, here. With low water pressure as a handicap, the entire force of the Galion fire department under the direction of Chief Harry F. Kile, successfully kept the flames from spreading to the main buildings.

Chief Kile estimated the loss at $100,000.

One man, Eugene Finical, 23, of Grove avenue, suffered a fractured bone in his left foot when he tripped in the machine shop after closing a fire door. The fire did not spread this far, however. He was treated at City hospital and later released.

Origin Not Determined

So far, origin of the fire has been undetermined. It was first discovered when the night watchman, George Valentine, and F. A. Kamerline, a guard, almost simultaneously saw smoke. It was only a few minutes later that it seemed that the whole addition was in flames. The factory fire alarm system was shorted, and the fire department had to be summoned by telephone. The first alarm was sent in 1:30 a. m., and a few minutes later there was a second alarm as the flames spread through the structure, located on the south side of the main factory which is in the southeast section of the city adjacent to the Erie Railroad tracks.

William Gregg, a resident in the vicinity, said he happened to

ANOTHER NEWSPRINT CUT ORDERED BY WPB

Reduction Ranges Up to Five Per Cent.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 6 — The war production board today ordered newspaper publishers to reduce further their consumption of newsprint during 1943's third quarter. The cut ranges up to five per cent for large users.

The additional five per cent reduction does not apply to the first 25 tons for newspapers using less than 500 tons a quarter. This provision, WPB said, is designed to aid the operation of smaller newspapers.

Last Dec. 31 newspapers were limited each quarter to 100 per cent of the tonnage of paper used in printing their net paid circulation during the corresponding quarter of 1941, plus a three per cent allowance for production waste. It was estimated at the time this requirement meant an overall reduction in current newsprint consumption of about 10 per cent.

H. M. Bitner, director of the WPB printing and publishing division, said however the 10 per cent reduction was not accomplished. The further reduction follows the recommendations of the newspaper industry advisory committee announced here June 18. The committee recommended an additional cut of five per cent for the third quarter and this was agreed upon by the labor advisory committee 10 days later, WPB reported.

Examples of how the additional reduction will operate for various representative tonnage groups on a sliding scale basis:

Users of 25 tons per quarter, no reduction; 50 tons, 2.5 per cent; 75 tons, 3.33 per cent; 100 tons, 3.75 per cent; 200 tons, 4.33 per cent; 300 tons, 4.60 per cent; 400 tons, 4.70 per cent; 500 tons or more, 5 per cent.

In commenting on the order, Bitner told newspaper publishers the necessity for economy in use of print paper becomes more pressing each week. He said requests for exemptions to the order should be filed with the newspaper section of WPB's printing and publishing division by July 15.

Any usage of paper over the quota, until an exception is granted, will be at the applicant's risk WPB said.

TEMPO OF WAR RISES SHARPLY IN OTHER AREAS

U.S. Fliers Bag 30 Axis Planes in Africa; Naval Battle Reported in Solomons.

By The Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's long-expected summer offensive appeared to have run into a buzzsaw of Soviet defenses today as the Red armies blocked every major thrust along a 165-mile front, killed more than 6,000 Germans and destroyed 738 Nazi tanks in the first 24 hours.

The German drive, launched just after dawn yesterday, struck on the so-called "hinge" sector 200 miles south of Moscow, in the region between Orel and Belgorod.

Battle dispatches said a series of violent assaults by German armored divisions and infantry had been flung back at all key points, with Nazi losses running as high as 50 per cent of their total attacking strength.

In the two other great theaters of the war—the southwest Pacific and the Mediterranean — the tempo was rising sharply as the United Nations pounded against Japan's outer perimeter of defenses and against the southern ramparts of Europe.

In the Pacific, U. S. warships were reported engaging a Japanese naval force of undisclosed size for the second time in four days, compelling the enemy to risk at least part of his dwindling fleet in an attempt to check the eight-day-old American drive through the Solomon islands.

Battle Still On

Observers believed the battle might be a continuation of last Saturday's opening skirmish in the Rendova-New Georgia area, where American naval gunners sent an attacking Japanese force of three cruisers and four destroyers into precipitate flight.

Dispatches said American troops, steadily expanding their grip on the Central Solomons, had won "control" of the Vangunu island, southeast of New Georgia, after battling stubborn Japanese resistance.

U. S. casualties so far in the campaign were described as light.

Out-numbered U. S. fighter planes were officially credited with breaking up an attack by 40 Japanese Zeros yesterday over American-occupied Rendova island, shooting down two more planes for a total of 157 enemy aircraft destroyed since June 30.

At the other end of the 700-mile allied offensive arc, where American sea-borne troops landed at Nassau bay in New Guinea last Wednesday, there was no report of ground fighting, but allied planes bombed the enemy airdrome at Salamaua and strafed Japanese troops between Salamaua and Nassau bay.

Commandos Raid Crete

In the Mediterranean, British commandos touched off axis invasion alarms with a lightning hit-and-run attack Sunday night on the Grecian isle of Crete, but the British ministry of information quickly warned Greek patriots that it was "not an invasion" and cautioned them not to betray themselves with an uprising against their Nazi conquerors. Following up this jab at the enemy's nerves, U. S. Flying Fortresses and other allied planes from North Africa yesterday blasted four axis airdromes in Sicily—at Gerbini, Licata, Marsala and Sciacca—and shot down 30 of 100 attacking enemy fighters in a furious air bat-

REPORT JAP LOSSES HEAVY

Navy Says Severe Damage Inflicted on Enemy in Kula Gulf Battle.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 6 — The Navy reported today that on the basis of incomplete information United States naval forces apparently had caused the Japanese very heavy damage in the battle of Kula gulf.

Details of the action, fought yesterday (Solomon Islands time) and apparently all over now, still were lacking, but there was no disposition in authoritative quarters here to consider it as a major encounter with decisive bearing on the Solomons campaign.

The impression prevailed rather that it was an action between fairly light surface forces of cruisers and destroyers. Whether bombing planes participated was not known.

A Navy communique said that "sufficient details have not been received to give the results of this engagement, but it is believed that, while some damage was suffered by the United States force, considerable damage was inflicted on the enemy."

U. S. Loses Destroyer

At the same time the Navy announced that the United States destroyer Strong was torpedoed and sunk Sunday night while engaged in a previously announced bombardment of Japanese installations at Vila and Bairoko on Kula gulf, which lies between New Georgia island and the Kolombangara island in the Munda airbase area.

The naval engagement, first announced last night, followed that bombardment.

The 2,100 ton destroyer Strong, commissioned only last year, carried a normal complement of about 250 men. She was an exceptionally large vessel, being in the destroyer leader division. She was commanded by Commander Joseph Harold Wellings of East Boston, Mass. Whether he survived was not reported nor was any estimate given of the loss of life. Presumably the vessel was torpedoed by a Japanese submarine boldly operating within the

Reds Report Nazi Attacks Repulsed With Heavy Losses

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, July 6—Vicious German thrusts by armored divisions and infantry have been flung back with heavy losses all along the 165-mile central front from Orel to Belgorod, the Russians reported today as the long-expected Nazi summer offensive moved into its second day.

Despite terrific destruction to their armored units, amounting in some cases to as high as 50 per cent of total attacking strength, the Nazi army kept boring into the heavily defended positions. In only isolated sectors, however, have they managed to penetrate the defense lines, Red army leaders said.

The Russian midnight communique said in the initial hours of the battle Red army units destroyed 586 tanks and 203 planes.

More Tanks Destroyed

The midday communique reported an additional 152 tanks were knocked out of the fight. The communique also reported 6,000 Germans had been slain.

(The German communique reported heavy fighting in the Belgorod and Kursk areas and declared it grew out of "a successful local attack by German infantry" in the Belgorod sector followed by "strong Soviet counterattacks."

(The fighting has spread to the area north of Kursk and is "assuming ever greater violence," said the communique broadcast by Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press.)

Dispatches reaching Moscow from the front said the Nazis used classic tactics—a smashing artillery barrage coupled with heavy air bombardment designed to destroy Russian men and guns and blast a path through the Russian line for the German infantry and armored divisions.

The dispatches said the first wave to reach the Russian posi-

Girl Born With 1 in 20 Chances To Live Now 7

Laura Dale Kinney, Marion county girl who was given one in 20 chances to live at Marion City hospital when she was born in 1935, has apparently shaken off all traces of her handicap and will celebrate her seventh birthday anniversary Wednesday, July 7.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Kinney of near Green Camp, she weighed two pounds and eight ounces at birth and was one of the smallest babies ever registered in City hospital. She now weighs 40 pounds and is about average height for children of her age.

The first two and one-half months of her life were spent in an incubator in the hospital. Her premature birth was brought about by a fall suffered by her mother.

Since her last birthday Laura Dale has started to school, has acquired a new baby sister and has had mumps. She also had a rather serious case of blood poisoning last fall, but is for the most part a quite healthy girl. The only other severe sick spell her parents can recall she had when she took old-fashioned measels on top of pneumonia when about four years old.

Her parents, living in Marion at the time of her birth and up until about a year ago, moved last year near Essex in Union county where she went to school for the first time last fall. She will be in the second grade at the Green Camp school this fall.

The new baby sister is Dorothy Ann, three months old. Other Kinney children who will help Laura celebrate this week are Maxine, 17, Ronald, 11 and Carol, 2½. A birthday dinner Wednesday will be featured by a birthday cake and candles.

Marion Soldier In "Winged Commandos"

Joseph A. Purcell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Purcell of 239 East Farming street is a member of the latest class of "Winged Commandos" who are being trained in the giant cargo and troop-carrying glider school in Lubbock, Texas, according to a report from the South Plains Army flying school there. Two other Ohio men who are in training with him are Noel McCann of Norwood and George Bundy of Massilon.

Former Marion Girl Gets WAVE Commission

Nancy Loring Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Warner of Flint, Mich., formerly of Marion, graduated June 29 from naval reserve midshipmen's school and has been commissioned an ensign in the WAVES, according to an announcement from Northhampton, Mass.

Ensign Warner attended Mount Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass., and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at Ohio State university.

Upon her graduation, Ensign Warner was assigned to active duty.

10 Ohio Slaughterers Barred from Operating

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 6 — Office of price administration (OPA) enforcement officers today suspended 10 northern Ohio slaughters from selling livestock.

The slaughters, including Dominic Rebman of Lorain and Howard E. Long of Bridgeport, were charged in complaints with failure to surrender ration points for meat disposed of at wholesale and other violations.

Robert P. Semple, OPA district attorney said the suspensions would be lifted when the slaughters "straighten up their OPA." Should any of them continue slaughtering despite a suspension order, they will subject themselves to criminal prosecution."

A MESSAGE TO EVERY AMERICAN FROM THE PRESIDENT

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

June 24, 1943

My dear Mr. Secretary:

Through you, as Secretary of the Treasury, I want to congratulate the American people on the way in which they have supported the voluntary payroll savings plan.

I am proud of the fact that 27,000,000 patriotic Americans are regularly investing more than $420,000,000 a month to help pay the cost of the war. And since all of this money comes from wages and salaries — nearly 90 percent from people earning less than $5,000, and the bulk of it from those working in war plants — I do not hesitate to say that the payroll savings plan is the greatest single factor we now have in protecting ourselves against inflationary spending.

This is a great record, both from the standpoint of curbing inflation and from the standpoint of financing the war. However, I heartily endorse your present drive to improve that record, and I agree it must be improved if we are to keep pace with the increasing demands of the war.

I therefore join you in calling upon the American people -- and upon labor and management particularly — to do still more. Additional people should be convinced of the necessity of participating. Everyone now on the payroll savings plan should materially increase the amount of bonds he is buying. We originally asked for 10 percent, but now we need considerably more.

I hope every American on a payroll will figure out for himself the extent to which he can curtail his spending, and will put every dollar of additional saving thus made into the payroll savings plan.

Sincerely yours,

Franklin D. Roosevelt

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Treasury

Suspense

HEAVY damage to Axis morale from invasion suspense is being claimed and is indicated by the evidence available in the form of radio broadcasts and newspaper reports from Axis countries.

Meanwhile, Americans hear from their own army's chief of supply, Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, that something apparently has been happening to their own morale, judged by important declines in the rate of industrial production. Perhaps there is closer connection than is apparent.

Gen. Somervell suggests that his countrymen are complacent and taking victory for granted. Anything that would bring the invasion suspense to an end might be as good for the United States as for the Axis. The Axis powers would know what they were up against, and Americans would have a clearer idea of what they are going to need to do. Suspense may have contributed to the illusion that all they need to do is no more than they've been doing—a condition which would be changed in short order once new major action began. It was not accidental that morale in this country needed no improvement at the close of last year after the North African invasion.

Traitor Max Stephan

ON GROUNDS of law, Traitor Max Stephan's presidential commutation of sentence is justified. His treason was more emotional than deliberate. If the German aviator, Krug, had not escaped and reached Stephan, the latter could not have helped him and, therefore, would not have been convicted.

But it should be plain to Germans and to Americans that Traitor Stephan did not escape death because of any softness in the attitude of Americans toward him and his kind. Bundcoddling is out of fashion in the United States, but it cannot be certain it will stay that way.

The Max Stephans and all subversionists should be taken at their face value. They never could have existed without the compassion they deny others—the compassion they seek to destroy. As the New Yorker Magazine puts it, the question for the future is not whether the United States can overcome German arrogance and paranoia, but whether the United States can overcome its own weakness for forgetting that Germany is arrogant and paranoiac.

Prospectus

THERE will come, in due course of time, a Fourth of July that will be the first in the post-war era.

Every patriot will plan to make his day off a thing of beauty and a joy forever. There may be a few bootlegged firecrackers set off at the crack of dawn. It will be a great occasion.

The highways will be filled, curb to curb, with automobiles going somewhere bumper-to-bumper. Overhead, the air will be buzzing with airplanes. Sweethearts will idle along in helicopters, endangering the life and limb of respectable families out for a holiday spin in their family "windmills," or perhaps coming back from the amusement park in an aerial bus.

Wieners will be consumed by the hundreds of millions. There will be doubleheaders in all the ball parks. The beaches will crawl with bathers and sun-bathers. Everybody will be rested and eager and anxious to be good company. Things will be running smoothly in Washington. The world will be at peace, life will be a bowl of cherries and the potato salad at the picnic will be the best ever.

When it is over the casualties will be counted by the score and all other participants will agree they never had more fun in their lives. Except for the aerial traffic, it will be just like old times—and there aren't many Americans who wouldn't settle for it right now if they could be sure of getting it without alterations.

Placeholders

WALTER LIPPMANN'S conclusion that recent events in the government constitute an argument against the third term, because it has given the country "a tired and rapidly aging administration," instead of the "revitalized" government that results from bringing in new men when administrations change, will be placed in the active file of the New Deal opposition. It will be an engaging thought in 1944.

When the fourth term buildup gets moving at top speed, it may be plainer than it is now that President Roosevelt is the central personality in a kind of government which, dominated by half-seen figures who come and go and a few figures, like Harry Hopkins and Felix Frankfurter, who stay on forever, has endured without change for a decade. Secretary Ickes, they say, is increasing in stature, but Secretary Perkins seems to be about as usual. The President's cabinet grows no stronger.

Of course, the placeholders could be removed and new blood brought in, but Mr. Lippmann, among others, is not hopeful of the rise of new men. By 1944 there may be new titles, but back of them will be the same old faces. To be different, he says, would require a "rededication beginning at the top, of the whole nation to the cause in which we are now engaged." It looks like too large an order.

MacArthur Moves Believed Pointed at Big Jap Base at Rabaul.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 6—The successful American landings in New Georgia and the vaguely defined MacArthur moves in New Guinea were planned as the first steps in a real pincer move to envelop the big Jap base at Rabaul. The base ordinarily has 45 to 75 ships at anchorage every day, and is the second largest Jap base (next to Truk) in all the South Pacific. It is the core of South Pacific Japanese power, but now all ride and are the easy-to-capture goals looking at the smaller strongholds.

The immediate MacArthur objective was the New Guinea peninsula jutting out into the sea north of Lae and Salamaua, closest New Guinea point to Rabaul. The immediate purpose of the other side of the pincers in New Georgia was to eradicate the substantial Japanese force in the central Solomons, estimated as much as 30,000 men. In addition, the Japs are supposed to have 8,000 to 12,000 in the northern islands, a total of possibly 50,000 in all the Solomon area.

While these are hardly sensational objectives, if they were to be won within a reasonable time, the vital Rabaul would be doomed.

Russian Front

Hitler lately has been moving directly away from his promised offensive in Russia. From London comes reports that the fuehrer has withdrawn several divisions from the eastern front. The Russians hastened to deny this, obviously bent on dispelling any allied relaxation of interest or pressure on their front, and probably they know more about the subject than the British.

Nevertheless, undeniable information is available that Hitler has augmented his force recently in both France and in Italy. These may have been reserves taken from Germany rather than the eastern front, but they would hardly have been withdrawn had an anti-Russian offensive been contemplated. Furthermore, it has been definitely established that a number of German fighter planes have been recalled from Russia since expansion of the British and American air attacks on German industrial centers.

The two previous Nazi offensives in Russia were instituted in June, which was too late in the year to allow for full development of the action before winter.

Allied Strategy

The Russians have likewise shown in their maneuvers no threat of launching a big offensive. The right time for Stalin to strike would be when our invasion is under way. Few military men expect anything big out of Italy until we have started.

The game the allies are playing is clear. We are constantly threatening new points of invasion in the east, feinting with our publicity or air action at Italy, Greece and—most significantly of late—through Turkey into the Balkans. Our concentrations in Syria have given Hitler full notice of danger in that quarter, although it has been little noticed in that country.

Thus we have caused Hitler to spread thinly his demanding power. Faced with threat on all fronts, he must spread his men and planes around in the complete circle of his vaunted fortress, preventing concentration of his full power on any front. This is an indispensable preparation for invasion.

Churchill Chides

More humor than significance can be attached to Churchill's suggestion that heavy fighting can be expected in the Mediterranean before the leaves fall (winter).

Mr. Churchill was answering the German radio which has been predicting every few days that invasion would start tomorrow morning or the day after. The Germans obviously are looking for information and, at the same time, trying to build up a popular expectation of enemy action to keep their own defenses alert at home, while Mr. Churchill is chiding them with opposite propaganda.

If you read his words closely, you will find that invasion could start tomorrow and his words would still read truthfully in retrospect.

Current Battles Being Fought To Correct Our Errors of Past Years.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

AS THE great battles develop on the outer circles of the Japanese and of the German power, let us remember why we are fighting on the outer circles. We are fighting to recover positions we have lost. We are fighting in New Guinea and the Solomons because we lost them. We shall have to fight for a bridgehead in Europe because four years ago we did not reinforce France.

To defeat Japan we have to get back to the Philippines. We have to retake Burma. We have to reopen China. We are fighting the kind of war we are fighting because we would not take the measures to defend the vital positions which we have now, at infinitely greater cost, to reconquer.

Until France, North Africa, Burma, the Pacific Islands were lost, we scarcely realized how much they mattered to us. For if we had realized it, we should never have sat still while they were lost, and we should not now be compelled to pay a terrific price in blood and treasure to recover them.

Let us not make that mistake again. Let us therefore print upon our hearts and minds the knowledge that Generals MacArthur and Eisenhower are redeeming upon the field of battle the errors of our own past.

Lessons for After War

Unless we will take to heart the lessons of our own experience, we can give no vital substance to the well-intentioned resolutions about, or to the blueprints for, a better world after the war.

We have no doubt learned the first lesson. After this war we shall not make again the mistake we made after the other war: we shall not disarm ourselves or insist upon disarming our allies. But that is only the first lesson.

There is an equally important lesson but a harder one for Americans to learn. Yet it is the supreme lesson taught by the New Guinea campaign and by the African campaign. It is that we cannot be secure, and we cannot prevent great aggression, unless we have strong, permanent allies in Europe and in eastern Asia.

We shall fight our way through the lost islands of the Pacific and through the jungles of Burma in order to get to China. That should teach us that if we want peace in the Pacific we must not again become separated from China, and no less obviously from Russia in Siberia.

We have fought our way from Casablanca and Algiers to Tunis and Bizerte and Pantelleria, and we shall fight on through other islands and on to the European mainland. That should teach us that a friendly and invulnerable France is a vital interest of the United States and of the whole Western Hemisphere.

In short, we must learn that instead of having to reconquer bridgeheads in Europe and in Asia, we must by our own military power and by a clear understanding with France, Russia and China, see to it that never again are the bridgeheads lost.

Only Guarantee of Security

If we do this, but only if we do this, can we guarantee without having to be perpetually mobilized, the defence of the Western Hemisphere, the independence of the Philippines, the security of Alaska, of Australia and New Zealand and of our own free commercial access to the outer world.

The organization of peace depends, first of all, upon whether our people will accept the fundamental strategic lesson of the whole war and then accept the practical consequences.

There are many desirable and beneficent things to do in order to make the world a little bit more decent place to live in. But they will not be done by platitudes and generalities. First things must come first and the first thing for us to understand clearly, coldly and in practical detail how the tremendous war we are having to fight is the direct consequence of the errors we have made.

The campaigns of MacArthur and Eisenhower today are shaped by those errors. And the victories cannot be made to last until we which they will eventually win understand those errors well enough not to make them again.

The Sarge Caught Up

By The Associated Press

CAMP BEALE, Calif. — Sergeants of the Armored Force can demand an extra amount of respect from rookies today all because of the feet of Technical Sergeant Harmon Ligon of the 13th Armored Division stationed here. He started out on a 25-mile dismounted road march with his company. After four miles, the sergeant was champing at the bit, annoyed at the slow pace. Came the first halt and he stayed behind. He was last seen fidgeting exasperatingly with his shoes as the column shoved off. Twenty-one miles after the initial halt, a barefoot soldier, running too fast to be identified, passed the weary column and fell into the proper cadence only when he reached the front rank. It was Sergeant Ligon.

Fathers, Don't Worry

That's Advice of Writer After Studying Draft Outlook.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, July 6—Confusion reigns again in selective service—or perhaps I should say still.

In spite of all the conflicting statements, warnings and what-not, my advice to fathers is: "Quit worrying."

Even if fathers have to be called to swell the armed forces to the outside limits now planned for this year, it could hardly mean more than the draft of one in six or seven — in other words not more than 800,000 to 900,000 of the nearly 6,000,000 men who were fathers before Pearl Harbor.

What the future will bring in the way of casualties to be replaced or increasing the size of the Army to overcome changing military situations can't even be guessed at now. However, once the military forces' goal is reached, there will be no further drain on married men, with child dependents, to keep it there.

Estimates of Needs

So far as I have heard here, there has been no testimony given before congressional committees or public statements made that we would need more than 300,000 men a month the last six months of the year to bring the armed forces to the limits set by our military leaders. Some testimony and a good many guesses, mine along with the rest, are that it won't be that many.

It has been declared definitely that the draft of fathers will not start before October. If at that time, the manpower pool of other classes has been drained completely, which is a possibility but unlikely, then 900,000 fathers would be needed. But there are around 100,000 young men a month reaching draft age and those physically fit in this group will make further inroads on father requirements.

It would be something of a joke on a good many officials if it all turned out to be one of our better teapot tempests.

At the outset, it was apparent that to go on pyramiding our military forces to gigantic proportions would be to make a stupid mistake. Even at this writing, there are hints from some military officials here that our Army is already big enough.

That is logical. This year we will have managed to send about 2,000,000 men overseas. Suppose, with shipping limitations considerably expanded, we could double another couple of million men in that number. We still would have training in this country, and most of them would have been in training a year or two, by the end of 1944 — far longer than streamlined training methods today take to turn out first-class fighting men.

Whether we would ever need that many overseas is another question.

With our Allies rapidly expanding in numbers as inroads are made into the conquered nations (as for example the 300,000 to 400,000 picked up in North Africa) and needing only equipment to fight for their native soil it is possible that we will have more manpower than will ever be necessary to fight the battle of Europe—and more than we, and our Allies, could ever supply, even with unlimited shipping.

In any event, all the furore about military manpower soon will be over—the armed forces virtually frozen, drawing only on the 18-year-old when they come of age, if drawing on any at all.

Only One Answer

No One Needs To Poll Public To Discover What Will Happen To Soldiers When War's Over.

By DAMON RUNYON

I SEE that the Gallup poll fellows are monkeying around with my campaign to continue the pay of the soldiers after the war so they may be relieved of financial worry while readjusting themselves to civil life.

The poll blokes have been ringing in a few questions on the idea, asking the people if they think the men should be released from the armed forces after the war if they have jobs, or should they be kept in service until they can show they have jobs.

According to the announced result, 50 per cent of the general public said the men should be kept in the service, 38 per cent thought the right to be released after the war and 12 per cent were undecided. Of families with members in the service, 47 per cent favored the men being kept in, 41 per cent were for their immediate release and 11 per cent were undecided.

Personally, I think the question is something for the men themselves to pass on, not the general public or the members of their families. While keeping them in service would amount to the continuance of pay for which I have been contending, millions of men now in uniform who are brave and good soldiers want no more of army life after the last gun has been fired.

They may not be happy in the army or navy though they do their duty 100 per cent, and it seems to me it would be penalizing them for their service, while my idea is partly to reward them after they are discharged by continuing their pay for perhaps a year, but more to insure some material comfort and ease of mind to them while they are looking around for clues to their future.

I DO not think it would be feasible for them to do this looking around while still in the army subject to rules and regulations. Certainly it would not be convenient. A large number of restless men in army cantonments required to go through the motions of the military to no particular purpose would be most unwise, in my opinion. The idea suggested by the poll might cause plenty of trouble.

I say that all the men who want to stay in the service should be permitted to do so, and that no sick or wounded or mentally incapacitated man should be released until absolutely sound again, but that all others should be promptly discharged with the guarantee that for a time at least they can rest and go about their readjustment plans at their leisure.

To those who will claim that my plan would be a burden on the taxpayers, I will reply that the President of the United States told congress that the bonus to the veterans of World war I would bankrupt the treasury, but when it was paid the result was that most of the money went to pay bills and to build homes. The money went back into circulation which is exactly what would happen to the money paid under my plan.

I NOTICE that the pollers also asked: "Do you think the men in the armed forces will have trouble finding jobs after the war is over?" to which 56 per cent of those interrogated said yes, 35 per cent no, and 9 per cent replied they didn't know. I judge the poll guys must have inadvertently accosted a few babes in arms. I do not see how any adult could answer "I don't know" to that one.

I must also infer that the 35 per cent have never been informed on the aftermath of our other wars, especially World war I when the returned veterans found that all the beautiful promises to restore them to their old jobs or make new jobs for them were as empty as Hitler's treaties and when, ere long, the boys were being called tramps and treasury raiders because they asked for what was coming to them in readjusted compensation.

The more I think of the Gallup poll question, the more I am inclined to regard it as sheer impertinence though strictly in line with the good old American custom of trying to do the thinking for those away at war without asking them anything about it. It is the old gag of treating them as children instead as men, and it is the thing that always causes more resentment among the returning veterans than anything else.

GI Checkers Not What They Were

By The Associated Press

NORTH CAMP POLK, La.—Private Harold N. Fischer of New York says soldiers of the last war were better checker players than those of today.

As an infant checker prodigy he began touring Army camps in the last war, trouncing the men in uniform from Maine to Mississippi. Later he became a professional player and won the national championship three times.

Fischer's pet trick is beating 22 checker players and five chess players at the same time, moving from board to board like a quick-lunch counter waitress. He says there's nothing to it.

"The untrained player plans only a move at a time," he explains. "By thinking only two or three moves ahead, the professional who ordinarily plans 10 or 15 moves in advance, can win easily."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Care of Heart

For a year or more anyway most of the work back home here is going to be done by middle aged people and since most of the stress of middle aged life falls on the heart, some sensible rules for taking care of these hearts are quite in order. Such is the view advanced by Dr. O. F. J. Falk, of St. Louis, in HYGEIA, The Health Magazine, in a recent issue. The doctor suggests the following rules of preservation:

Some Rules To Follow

1. "Attempt to establish a balanced plan of living with sufficient sleep (at least 50 hours a week) and adequate leisure periods." Fifty hours of sleep a week is a little over 7 hours a night. I would be inclined to add that they should make it 8 hours if possible. Because you can just go to bed and read a detective story or turn on the radio. This conduces to keeping quiet, not jumping up and moving around. And the time you spend that way is almost as good as if you were asleep, for recreative purposes. So I believe Dr. Falk would be willing to accept my emendation—that they spend 70 hours a week in bed.

2. "Establish and maintain some well-balanced, moderate exercise program suited to middle aged needs. It is interesting to speculate on just what influence the replacement of man's habit of walking by decreasing use of the motor car may be having on the increase in middle age heart disease we are witnessing today."

The problem of exercise for the middle aged here is emphasized: that they need some exercise, but they do not need as much as they once did. Too many middle aged people carry over the ideal of a vigorous youth into their middle aged exercise habits. The old football star, the fellow who has on his mantelpiece the Country Club tennis championship cup, 1910, the former city golf champion—all these have to be restrained in their lust for exercise. Exercise refreshed them and made them healthy when they were young and they can't bear to give it up. But it won't do.

Avoid Being Tired

When the golfer reaches 55, he had better reduce his rounds from 18 holes four times a week to 18 holes twice a week and 9 holes once a week. When he gets to be 60, he had better reduce it to 9 holes three times a week. When he gets to be 65, he had better reduce it to 9 holes twice a week, or better, 6 holes twice a week. A man or woman at 55 should never never exercise—even with moderate exercise such as walking—to the point of getting the least bit tired.

3. "A balanced dietary program is important, but special emphasis should be placed on moderation in the size of meals and on a quiet and unhurried manner of eating." As exercise goes down, the total consumption of food should go down in about the same ratio at the same ages. I see no reason to change the type of eating, but by the time you are 60 you should take about one-half of what you think you want, have a helping and when you are finished with it, ask yourself whether you are not satisfied. War rationing may save the lives of hundreds and thousands of our middle aged friends. It is a blessing in disguise.

More Plate Tonnage Needed for New Ships

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 6 — War production board efforts to obtain larger steel output during the remainder of 1943 "are caused in large part by need for more plate tonnage for shipbuilding and other war purposes," the magazine Steel reported yesterday, adding:

"Plate orders continue heavy and some producers are booked through October, with some requirements not yet filled, indicating full production through the year may be completely covered within a short time."

Coal labor troubles caused national ingot production to decline 6½ points last week to 92 per cent of estimated capacity, "the lowest rate since the first week of July, 1941." The largest district decline was at Pittsburgh, down 21½ points to 79½ per cent of capacity. Cleveland fell 4 to 90 per cent, Youngstown 3 to 94, Cincinnati 3 to 92 and Wheeling ½ to 86 with Detroit unchanged at 92 per cent of capacity.

HIS 1943 VACATION . . .

48 HOURS!

Just as long as a week-end pass.

That's all many of the boys get these days.

Not time enough for a few rounds of golf . . . or to fleck a fly on a trout stream . . . or to loll on a beach.

For him, all that went out when the war came in.

Now, his vacation can be measured by the tick of a watch . . . just time enough for one of Mother's dinners . . . a long chat with Dad . . . a good night's sleep in his own bed . . . a glance at the Sunday morning paper . . . and back to camp.

Please think of that young man when you plan YOUR vacation.

If you are going away for two weeks, start your vacation Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, so there will be seats and berths on week-end trains for him and his buddies. Try to time your travel to accommodate him!

You may not realize it, but right now more than 15 per cent of the total passenger traffic on the Pennsylvania Railroad is Service men traveling on leave. And most of it is over week-ends.

So please do your best to time your travel so that it doesn't interfere with theirs!

Miss Timberlake and C. L. Bailey Exchange Vows

Mr and Mrs. C. E. Timberlake of Shadyside, O., are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Estella, to Cpl. C. Bailey, son of Marion, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M. H. Ward of the Shadyside Presbyterian church Sunday morning, June 27, as part of the morning service. The bride and groom were married in a similar manner.

The church was simply decorated with white altars and greenery. Attending Miss Timberlake was Miss Jane Schaffer, a close friend of her family. George Bailey served as best man for his brother.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was costumed in a floor length gown of white marquisette with a sweetheart neckline and a fitted bodice from which flowed a train trimmed in lace. The full sleeves were fitted at her wrists tapered to a point at her hands. A fingertip veil was fastened to a Queen Anne bonnet. She carried a white Eastern Star Bible and sweet peas.

Miss Schaffer was attired in a powder blue crepe, floor length gown with short sleeves. White doeskin ribbon gloves, a white gardenia and other white accessories completed her outfit.

The traditional wedding marches were played, and as the couple were still kneeling at the close of the ceremony, Miss Mary Elizabeth Piper of Shadyside sang 'Blessed Be the Tie That Binds.'

An informal reception at the end of the service was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The home was decorated in sweet peas, and a three layer tier cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a gutcher brown two-piece suit with white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr and Mrs. George Bailey of Marion, Mrs. Newman Hanson of Kenton and Mrs. Millie Collins of Marion.

A graduate of Shadyside High school and Wooster college, the bride taught music for two years in Belmont township schools. For the last year she has taught music in Waldo, Green Camp and Kirkpatrick schools. Mr. Bailey is a graduate of Whetstone High school in Crawford county, and attended Ohio Northern university. He is engaged in farming. The couple are now at home on a farm located on the Scioto Ordnance Plant site.

JUNE WAR BOND SALES TOTAL $219,693

Purchases for Month Lag Behind Quota; Appeal Made.

June war bond sales in Marion county soared toward the latter part of the month by arrangements that brought the top two-man subscribers here last Friday, nevertheless were far below the quota for the month.

In reporting June sales totaling $219,693.75 today, Elmer J. Stocenbuh county war bond chairman, urged Marion county residents to cooperate in the July sales activities and bring the county back into the ranks of those exceeding their quotas. Last month's sales were approximately $100,000 short of the quota for the month.

Meanwhile, war bond officials turned their attention to the July campaign to sell extra war stamps, in addition to bonds to help the nation buy another aircraft carrier for another bombing of Tokyo. Merchants, newspaper carriers and theaters are conducting the July event, urging people to take their change in war stamps and otherwise increase their normal purchase of stamps in addition to maintaining a schedule of regular bond purchases.

I WAS A SLAVE TO CONSTIPATION

Talk about being in bondage! I felt as if I were walking around in chains. Purges only helped me temporarily.

Then I learned the cause of my constipation. It was lack of "bulk" in my diet. So I took a friend's advice and began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. It sure is a grand-tasting cereal—and did just what he said it would do. It got at the cause of my constipation and corrected it!

If your trouble is like mine, why don't you try ALL-BRAN? Just eat it regularly, drink plenty of water and—"Join the Regulars"! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

VERNONWARE MAY FLOWER

The May Flower design, created by one of the outstanding artists of the Vernon art staff, was inspired by his own garden in California in the early morning of a day in May. No one could help surrendering to the charm of this colorful and artistically arranged group of flowers. This design is further enhanced by the beautiful shape designed by Royal Hickman, the noted ceramic designer of Swedish ware. The May Flower design, like all Vernonware, is craze-resistant, and not liable to chipping and cracking. The entire design is underglaze, to protect it from fading and wearing off. With reasonable care a set of May Flower should serve you faithfully for many years to come.

Action in Russia Likely To Mark Breaking of Storm

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

The opening of the heavy German offensive along a 165-mile front in the Orel-Belgorod sector—the bloody cockpit in the Russo-Nazi battle-line south of Moscow—may signal the breaking of the great storm which has been hanging over Europe for weeks.

Whether this is a final all-out attempt by a desperate Hitler to crush the Russian armies isn't yet apparent. But it's a major operation which already has produced fierce fighting, and it might easily develop into the big show-down.

In short, this may be the crisis which would disclose in the near future what the duration of the Hitlerian portion of the world war is likely to be. The Nazi chief will have to put his resources on parade.

Nazis Forced To Act

The Germans probably have been impelled to undertake this belated offensive either for the purpose of forestalling a Russian drive—which Berlin has been predicting—or because they have decided that they are fairly safe from an immediate allied invasion of Western Europe. Both factors may enter into the situation.

Part and parcel of this attack undoubtedly is the phenomenon of the sudden appearance of fresh Nazi aerial support for the Italians in the battle for Sicily. Apparently Herr Hitler's harassed intuition has done a sudden backflop and made him revise his decision to leave it entirely to Benito (soft-under-belly-of-Europe) Mussolini to stand off the allied invasion which has been bearing down on him.

The Nazi chief's recent attitude has been that of abandoning his partner in crime as no longer useful to the axis cause. Hitler's change of mind, if not of heart, is easily understandable in view of the opening of the Russian drive. He has decided to impede the allied operations in the Mediterranean as much as possible while he is engaged in Russia.

Axis Opposition Stiffens.

German and Italian airmen over the fourth gave American and British squadrons attacking Sicily the heaviest opposition since the height of the Tunisian campaign. Everywhere the axis air defense stiffened strongly and the Nazis, as would be expected, were particularly active and apparently taking the lead in resisting the fierce allied bombing.

It isn't clear yet how much air power Hitler has shifted to Italy or may be prepared to send there. He has been conserving his luftwaffe for emergencies. He not only has been considering the feasibility of inaugurating a final grand offensive against the Reds, but has had to figure on a probable Russian offensive if he himself didn't strike first. There also has been the threat of invasion of Western Europe by the Anglo-American forces.

However, he undoubtedly can spare a limited amount of air power to help Mussolini—providing he is safe from invasion across France. This aid might change the Mediterranean picture considerably in that it would make the allied task of invasion tougher than has been anticipated.

A far more interesting point is what reaction the Nazi offensive in Russia may have on the allied plans for ultimate invasion of Western Europe. With Hitler heavily engaged on the eastern front we have a situation which rather invites allied invasion of France. Quite likely Premier Stalin foresaw this development when he renewed his appeal the other day for an opening of a second front in the west.

In any event, Hitler has opened the gates to the arena, and we are likely to see the conflict swell to a fierce pitch before British Premier Churchill's leaves of autumn begin to fall.

Travel Restrictions Reduce Holiday Deaths

By The Associated Press

A nation forced to stay put, to a large extent, over the three-day July 4 holiday week-end discovered today that wartime curtailment of highway travel saved scores of lives.

An Associated Press survey showed at least 298 deaths occurred over the week-end but only 127 of these were traffic fatalities. Last year, the first wartime July 4 holiday, there were 320 traffic deaths and in 1941 before gas-tire-auto restrictions there were 500.

This year, also, not a single fireworks death was reported.

MARION AREA HORSES SHARE GALION AWARD

Among Winners in Horse Show at Holiday Celebration.

Special to The Star

GALION, July 6—Hundreds of persons from surrounding cities and towns joined Galion residents for the observance of the National holiday here yesterday. A horse show, contests, dance and other entertainment featured the day's program sponsored by the Galion Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Entries from Marion and vicinity took honors in the horse show. Carl Kull on My Ladyship captured first honors in the five-gaited class and L. M. Wickersham of the River road, riding Idle Hour was awarded the trophy in the Western class. Russell Wickersham, son of Mr. Wickersham, on Comanche Chief received fourth honors, and Orvie Young of Richwood, riding Flash, also was an entry in the western class. L. M. Wickersham acted as ringmaster and also entered his six-horse hitch in the parade.

Early in the evening, a baseball game was played between Galion and Iberia at 6:30 o'clock after which a horse-pulling contest was held. The ball game was won by Galion, 11 to 1.

In the heavy-weight horse pulling contest a national record was claimed when the team belonging to Clyde Winch of Galion registered a pull of 9,200 pounds. The record was 9,000 pounds, according to the general chairman. In the light-weight contest a team owned by Earl Herer of New Washington won first prize. Awards were four $25 War Savings bonds.

Marvin Adams was general chairman of arrangements. R. B. Wiseman was chairman of the horse show.

tions found that the heavy barrage designed to hack lanes through the Soviet lines had failed and that the Russian infantry was still there.

The succeeding steps in the assault apparently found the Germans employing the familiar pattern of attack by tank units, followed by infantry with small groups of bombers supporting from the air.

In the Orel-Kursk sector, the Russians said, 100 tanks broke through their defenses, but Soviet infantry barred the way to oncoming Nazi foot troops while artillery in the rear shelled the tanks. The Germans were reported to have swung into swift retreat after 38 of the tanks were damaged.

The Russians admitted the Germans succeeded in occupying two settlements in one sector of the Belgorod front but said they were dislodged by counter-attacks and retreated, leaving hundreds of dead.

The offensive which began yesterday was not unexpected by the Russians. For weeks they have predicted that it was soon to come and even said that it would begin in the Orel-Kursk-Belgorod area.

FARM WORKER ADMITS KILLING EMPLOYER'S SON

Celina Boy, 6, Beaten To Death with Hammer.

By The Associated Press

CELINA, O., July 6—Louis Vernon Hand, a 17-year-old farm hand, was held in jail here today after, police said, he admitted slaying six-year-old Richard Stober for "razzing" him about his work.

The suspect was arrested yesterday at Greenville after the slain child's body was found stuffed behind a bale of straw in a barn near the farm home of its father, Rufus Stober.

Police Chief Ora McClellan of Greenville said Hand, an employe on the Stober farm, confessed killing the child Sunday because he "made me mad." The police chief said Hand told him the Stober boy's father had reprimanded him for not taking proper care of a piece of farm equipment and the boy chided him about it.

"Richard razzed me about not greasing the cultipacker and this made me mad," McClellan quoted the youth. "I...grabbed a clawhammer and hit him on the head three or four times. I also hit him on the neck and over the heart."

HEAD-ON AUTO CRASH CLAIMS LIVES OF EIGHT

Five Akron Residents Injured in Mishap.

By The Associated Press

MARIENVILLE, Pa., July 6—Investigation of a head-on automobile crash that claimed eight lives near here Sunday was delayed today pending improvement in the condition of five Akron, O., residents injured in the collision.

Only one person—18-months-old Thomas Boland Jr. of Akron—escaped unhurt as the two autos carrying 14 passengers collided and caught fire. All seven occupants of one of the cars were burned to death. The eighth victim, Mrs. Philip Boland, 30, of Akron, was riding in the other machine.

Police were able to establish positive identity of only three other bodies. They were: Owen D. Brown and Robert J. Storm of Elmira, N. Y., and Gar M. Wood of Ithaca, N. Y.

Corp. P. H. Winger of the state police patrol said the other victims were believed to be children of Brown, who was driving to Niles, O., to get their mother.

UNION SERVICES OF CITY CHURCHES OPEN

Indifference Is Subject of Sermon at Calvary Church.

"Indifference of Good People" was the theme which Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of First Evangelical and Reformed church chose for his sermon Sunday evening, when the opening union services of Marion's churches was held at Calvary Evangelical church at 8 p. m.

Rev. Wierth based his sermon on the text from the Book of Jeremiah, "Is it nothing to you all ye that pass by." With that in mind he gave the reasons why the sin of indifference is so evil. The first reason he listed was because it never seems to be bad and the people are indifferent until the evil habits have crept into their way of living, and the second reason was the sin of omission. To illustrate the latter, Rev. Wierth gave several examples from the Bible of persons who were punished because they had failed to do something rather than because they had done an evil act.

The next part of the sermon was a discussion on how people become indifferent and how they should rid themselves of the evil.

Because they are too comfortable, lack personal responsibility and become used to the customary things of life most people fail to realize in time that they are drifting into the sin of indifference, he said. To rid themselves of this evil, people should acquaint themselves with the knowledge of situations and instill a love of fellowman in their hearts, he added.

By doing this those who are drifting into an indifferent attitude will be able to recognize the symptoms and they will be able to combat the evil and conquer it before it becomes too much of a habit, he said.

tle over the Gerbini field.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced that 42 axis planes were shot down in the last 24 hours, making a two-day toll of at least 87 enemy aircraft destroyed.

Forty-five out of more than 100 axis planes were knocked down Sunday as American and British raiders bombed five Sicilian airfields in a mighty Fourth of July assault.

Allied losses over the two-day period were listed as 25 planes; 13 Sunday, 12 yesterday.

Linked with heavy attacks from North African bases, U. S. bombers from the Middle East heaped new devastation on the Sicilian ferry terminus at Messina again yesterday and returned to their bases without loss.

On the Russian front, Hitler's field headquarters still gave no definite indication that the great Nazi summer offensive had started—apparently waiting to see how the battledevelops before committing itself.

Soviet headquarters said the Red armies, holding solidly except for small penetrations in isolated sectors, destroyed 586 German tanks and 203 planes in the initial hours of battle, and knocked out 152 more tanks up to noon today.

see a flicker of light, and almost instantly the whole building seemed to be in flames.

Piles of painted lumber and paint drums were believed to have attributed to the rapid spread of the fire.

Factory officials, cooperating with the FBI, were reluctant to give out any information as to the exact contents of the building. It is understood that the FBI is investigating the blaze.

The wing of the building that was destroyed by the fire was T-shaped, one-story tile construction, 40 by 100 feet and 60 by 160 feet.

Chief Kile recognizing the fact that it would be impossible to save the new addition, concentrated on saving the main factory building. One Galion fire department pumpers was used for two lines of hose, while two other hose of the 2½ inch size were attached to hydrants, thus bringing four lines, totaling 3,200 feet in length, to play upon the blaze.

15 Firemen on Job

The town's regular firemen, "minute men" and volunteers, about 15 fire-fighters in all, worked from the time they answered the call shortly after 1:30 a. m., until 11:45 a. m., Sunday. Chief Kile, later in the morning, released some of the men for breakfast.

The two fire alarms, and the sound of ambulance sirens, wakened hundreds of Galion residents who rose from their beds to see the fire.

The plant was not in operation when the flames broke out, and no workmen were endangered at the time.

The plant won the Army-Navy "E" award in February for excellence in the production of steel truck bodies and other materials used in the war program. At that time there were about 300 employes at the factory. Recently the factory also won the minute-man flag.

In Dec. 1936, the company's plant which was located on Harding Way East, in the down-town business section, was completely destroyed by an early morning blaze causing loss of at least $500,000.

The present new factory was constructed on a new site, and the new addition which was levelled by the Sunday morning blaze had been completed only last year.

Harry Cobey, president and general manager of the company, said that new construction will begin immediately, that there will be no loss in production. The factory was open Monday for work.

Officers of Company

Besides Mr. Cobey, other officers of the company are all members of the family. Mrs. Cobey is vice president; their youngest son, Herbert, is secretary; and Captain Ralph Cobey, now in the armed forces, is treasurer.

A month ago, on June 3, a $50,000 fire halted production at the plant of the American Steel Abrasives company. Buildings and equipment were badly damaged.

INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Rolla E Dickison of Mt. Vernon, formerly of Marion, was injured when she fell down a stairs in an office building in that city Thursday morning. She was removed to the Mt. Vernon hospital where several stitches were taken in her lip and she received treatment for bruises and shock. Later she was removed to her home.

FORMER CALEDONIA YOUTH IS KILLED

John William Morrisen, 14, Dies in Galion Hospital.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 6—John William Morrisen, 14, formerly of Caledonia, was fatally injured Saturday at 8 p. m. when his bicycle struck an automobile driven by William Lee Logan, 55 of near Lexington, at a highway intersection in Blooming Grove. The youth was taken to Galion City hospital where he died Sunday at 5 a. m.

While Morrow county officials and the state highway patrol were not called until Sunday to investigate the mishap, they said the youth apparently rode his bicycle into the front of the car driven by Logan. Logan was driving east on Route 97, and the boy was riding north on Route 543 in the village.

In addition to receiving a fractured skull, the boy suffered a severely lacerated right arm which was struck by a knob on a door of the car.

The youth was the son of Samuel and Ruth Morrison. The family moved to Blooming Grove about two years ago from Caledonia.

Besides the parents, he leaves two brothers, George and Carl and four sisters, Margaret, Mary, Frances and Susan, all residing at home, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Morrison of Williamsport, and Frank Hershner of Johnsville.

Short services will be held at the home at 1 p. m. Wednesday, followed by services at the Johnsville U. B. church at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Shauck cemetery at Johnsville.

Youth Given Suspended Sentence at Kenton

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., July 6—Howard Rockhold, 17, who aids his father, L. G. Rockhold, in operation of a stone quarry at York Center in Union county today was free on terms of a suspended sentence after pleading guilty in juvenile court to leaving the scene of an automobile accident. He was ordered to pay $50 and costs, then a 60-day jail term imposed by Judge G. B. DeWitt was suspended providing he refrain from driving a passenger automobile for pleasure for 60 days, assist his father at the quarry, and remain a law-abiding citizen.

The youth told the court he became frightened after his car struck Ora Obenour, 64-year-old Hepburn resident, last Feb. 7. Obenour died in Antonio hospital May 4, allegedly as a result of those injuries.

INSURANCE ON CROPS KILLED BY CONGRESS

Senate Yields to House's Firm Stand Against Plan.

WASHINGTON, July 6—Congress and the administration appeared today to be going down different streets on such varied ideas as crop insurance, regulation of the government's relations to the business world.

The lawmakers posed these problems for the executive branch.

The senate yielded to the house and agreed to knock out of the farm appropriation all funds for crop insurance except enough to allow the system to liquidate.

Chairman George, Democrat of Georgia, disclosed that the senate's committee on postwar planning had ordered an investigation of "restraints" on business—including what he called government competition with private enterprise, the effect of taxes on industrial operations and the weight of government regulations.

Faced with the task of finding more revenue to siphon off excess purchasing power, treasury officials disclosed they are studying the possibilities of a new tax system to be applied specifically to war-swollen incomes. The plan would entail broadening the present system of basic exemptions. The idea would be to exact more from the person who is paid more in wartime than from the person whose income has been constant.

D. C. Speaker, mythical but authoritative capital source, disclosed that President Roosevelt was vexed by a decision of stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson turning down an eight-cents-an-hour pay increase for railway workers in nonoperating jobs. Hence, D. C. said, administration advisers are searching about for a thornless way to backtrack on that prohibition.

10 All-Stars Get Holiday Homers

Sluggers Turn in Good Job at Plate as Big Game Nears.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that baseball's booming Fourth of July bombardment is over the major leagues can turn their attention toward next Tuesday's annual All-Star game.

In the holiday celebration yesterday no fewer than 10 of the sluggers selected for the dream game at Philadelphia

The most spectacular fireworks was set off by Augie Galan of the Brooklyn Dodgers. He pulled the Dodgers out of a five-game losing streak by hitting a triple with the bases loaded in the first game and a grand slam homer in the second for a double victory over the Chicago Cubs, 6-3 and 8-2.

Bill Nicholson of the Cubs, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Mel Ott of New York and Vince DiMaggio of Pittsburgh were other National league All-Star nominees who punched round-trippers.

Musial's blow in the seventh decided the second game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia in the Cardinals' favor 4-3 after the world champions has been shellacked 15-2 in the opening contest.

The split shaved St. Louis' National league lead to three games.

In the day's other National league show Pittsburgh beat the New York Giants 8-4 and then was shutout 9-0, when Ott hit his twelfth homer of the season.

Cincinnati at Boston was postponed because of the weather.

In the American league the New York Yankees took two games at St. Louis 3-2 and 8-5, but the first affair was not won until Joe Gordon smacked his ninth homer in the eleventh inning.

The Browns thought they had bagged the game with two runs in the ninth and were in the clubhouse eating ice cream when they learned they hadn't. They thought they had tallied the winning run on John Lindell's throw into the St. Louis dugout, but after first allowing the run, the umpires yielded to the protests of Joe McCarthy that Mult Byrnes was entitled only to go to third, and called the Browns back onto the field.

Besides Gordon, Chet Laabs and Vernon Stephens of St Louis, Rudy York of Detroit and Bob Johnson of Washington, all American league All-Stars put homers

York's blow with two on figured in Detroit's 16-3 triumph over the second place senators. Johnson's with one on, provided the margin of Washington's 6-4 victory.

The Chicago White Sox split two with the Boston Red Sox, beating Tex Hughson 4-2 in the opener then losing the second 8-1.

A pair of four-hit pitching performances by Don Black and Luman Harris gave the Philadelphia Athletics twin triumphs over the Cleveland Indians 2-1 and 7-0

Big Scores Rolled Up In League Softball Contests

Epworth Takes Doubleheader from Presbies and St. Mary Wins Two Games from Greenwood.

Uplifted holiday spirits must have given Sunday School league softballers the added punch at bat last night that produced such double barrelled scores as Epworth 24, Presbyterian 9; St. Mary 19, Greenwood 4, and St. Mary 18, Greenwood 2.

The St. Mary-Greenwood doubleheader was played at McKinley park while Presbyterian and Epworth met on the Garfield park diamond.

Epworth's win was its sixth straight and gave that squad a more secure grip on first place in the Sabbath loop. By virtue of the two St. Mary victories the Irish are now in second spot, a full two games ahead of Greenwood. The Presbies are holding down last place among the church teams.

Replay Earlier Game

The first game of the Greenie-Irish twin bill was the regularly scheduled league contest. The second game was a replay of an earlier season forfeit which was not accepted by Greenie manager Ray Donaugh.

Epworth jumped to a 6 to 0 lead at the one inning mark on an attack of three homers. Hilton hit the first of the circuit clouts with one man on. Scott, who followed Hilton in the batting order, banged out the second homer with no one on. Fritz Guy pounded the third with two out and a sole teammate aboard.

In all, the Methodists made five home runs while the Presbyterian batsmen cracked out three round trippers. Roseberry, Epworth player, hit one in the third inning with two men on and B. Evans, another Methodist, in the seventh with the sacks empty.

Presbie homers were made by Leipsnig in the second inning with none on, Zuck in the third with two on, and Stew Young in the fifth with one aboard. Young was champ for the night in the consistency hitting column with four singles out of four trips to the plate.

Gets Fifth Win

Bob Virden, crack Epworth pitcher, was on the mound last night and boosted his season mark to five wins and no defeats, the best mound record in the Sunday School loop.

The first St. Mary win was not the home run slugfest as the Epworth game but it did result in some long distance hitting of the double and triple variety. J. P. Sutherland, Greenwood player, hit the lone round tripper of the game in the seventh inning. Don Moran and Jim Lawler, Irishers, both hit three sackers to lead their team in the extra base department.

Once again, home runs were the rule in the nightcap of the Greenwood double bill. Five four baggers were hit in this game, all by St. Mary batters. Paul Ring led the Saint attack with two home runs in the fourth with one on and in the sixth with two on. Winterstellar hit for the circuit in the fifth when one mate was on the sacks. Kent Daum hit another homer in the fifth after Fr. Lutmer had tripled. Pitcher McGinnis followed the leader in the sixth stanza by belting a home run of his own with the bags vacant.

Fourteen homers were hit in three games last night, making an average of 4½ per contest. This is a new season record for home run clouting for one night.

JAM AT TOP OF BATTING AVERAGES

New Leaders Take Over in Both Leagues.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 6—The congestion on the trains and buses over the week-end could hardly have been worse than the jam in the batting averages at the top of the two major leagues today.

Out of the crowd emerged two new hitting leaders, Frank McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds in the National league and rookie Guy Curtright of the Chicago White Sox in the American, but their margins over the pace-makers of previous weeks, Babe Dahlgren and Vernon Stephens, was as close as two persons going through a train door at the same time.

McCormick moved into first place with a .329 average after yesterday's games, just one point better than Dahlgren, the Phillies' star who slumped from .351 to .328 in a week. McCormick, although snagging the lead, skidded from a .336 average last week. Close behind this pair, Billy Herman of Brooklyn and Stan Musial of St. Louis were tied at 324.

In the American league Stephens, star shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, slipped from .342 to .333 and second place to yield the lead to Curtright. The White Sox outfielder skyrocketed into the lead late last week on the crest of a 26-game hitting streak that lifted his batting average to 362 last Thursday. But since then he too collapsed and today had a comparatively modest mark of 337.

Oris Hockett of Cleveland, who a week ago was tied with Stephens at .342, dropped to .327 and third place.

Buddy Walker Scores Knockout Over Detroiter

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 6—Buddy Walker, local Negro heavyweight, knocked out LeRoy Lawson, 198-pound Detroiter, in the eighth of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. The 193-pound Walker downed Lawson for a nine count just before he delivered the knockout blow.

ENGINEER DEPOT TEAM LOSES TO COLUMBUS

Rain Falls To Halt Game; Return Match Set.

On a field which was so saturated that the players said they needed boats to run the bases, the Columbus General Depot outlasted the Marion Engineer Depot officers at the local Depot field Sunday afternoon, 32 to 27.

Batteries for the contest, the first in which the Marion officers have met out of town opposition, were Lt. J. E. Casaman and Lt. T. D. Assenzio on the mound and Lt. W. H. Stemmeyer behind the plate for Marion and Lt. Brewer pitching and Lt. Kaham catching for Columbus.

The game went the nine inning route and was termed a slugfest and comedy of errors by spectators. Rain started to come down after the second ball was pitched and never stopped for the entire game.

Although the visitors administered a fairly convincing setting to the Marion officers, the locals demanded a return tilt after the game. The Columbus officers obliged and July 18 was set for the return game at Columbus.

BETTING HITS HIGH FIGURE AT RANDALL

$82,455 Rolls Across Mutuel Boards in Day.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 6—The betting gentry poured a reported $82,455 across the mutuel boards at North Randall track yesterday during a grand circuit racing program highlighted by the victory of Hambletonian-favored Volo Song in the feature event.

Grand circuit officials said the betting total was the largest sum wagered on a trotting race at the Randall oval in 15 years.

Volo Song won the $9,205 American trotting stake by taking first places in the third heat and runoff, after finishing eleventh and last in the opener and second the next time out.

With venerable Ben White at the reins, Volo Song traveled the third heat in 2:03½, fastest mile of the 1943 grand circuit season.

Phonograph, racing for the first time, trotted to second place in the first, third and runoff heats, winning the second with a sparkling 2:05¼. Worthy Boy was driven by veteran Sep Palin in a 2:05¼ first place in the first heat, and finished third in the remaining efforts.

Palin also won the 12 class pace when he drove Eddie D. home first in two heats for a $1,000 purse.

INDIANS DOWN, THEN UP IN AMERICAN LEAGUE STANDINGS

But They Do About as Well When They Don't Play Doubleheaders.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 6 — After dropping from third to seventh place by not playing a doubleheader Sunday, and rising from seventh to sixth place by losing a doubleheader yesterday, the Cleveland Indians resort to afternoon play tonight in an effort to recoup from a tragic holiday week-end.

The Tribe scored one unearned run in 18 innings yesterday, losing 2 to 1 and 7 to 0 decisions to Philadelphia's last place Athletics.

Through the vagaries of the 1943 American league pennant race, however, the Indians rose to sixth place, over the also twice-beaten St. Louis Browns—by the margin of a single percentage point.

Connie Mack's lads stay on for a night game tonight and a matinee tomorrow.

Dan Black and Luman Harris pitched the victories for Philadelphia yesterday, Limiting the Tribe to four hits in each game. The Indians scored their lone run in the eighth inning of the first game, when the recently-hospitalized Hank Edwards tallied on a fielder's choice, a stolen base, a wild throw and a long fly.

Pete Suder homered in the third inning of the opener to start the A's and Bob Swift doubled in the eighth and scored on a single by Johnny Welaj to provide the winning margin.

The Mackmen tallied in the second and sixth of the nightcap, the result of the only two hits given up by Vernon Kennedy in the five and a third innings he hurled. Al Milnar went out to the mound in the sixth after Kennedy walked three men in a row, forcing a run across the plate.

Milnar started the seventh with two passes and gave up singles to Harry Wagner, Dick Siebert and Bobby Estalella, which produced five runs before Pete Center could get out of the bullpen.

Jim Bagby lost the first game, his seventh defeat against seven victories. Kennedy, charged with nightcap loss, also is all square with two and two.

Brewers Determined To Keep Lead in A.A.

Now that the Milwaukee Brewers have captured the American association lead from Indianapolis, they are determined to hold on.

The Brewers doused Kansas City twice, winning the opener 4-2 and the second 6-1. Indianapolis found it tough to split with Louisville, taking the first game 3-2 but dropping the second 7-3.

Columbus and Toledo also divided, the brood taking the starter 3 to 1 but relinquishing the second 7 to 0—both games being decided in the first inning. Toledo punched over two tallies in the opening inning of the first game and held out behind Freddy Sanford's six-hit mound job. The Birds scored three times in the initial frame of the afterpiece and coasted along on Preacher Roe's fine two-hit performance.

St. Paul chalked up a double bill, whipping Minneapolis 15 to 3 and 6 to 2.

Reds After First Win of Season in Boston

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, July 6—The Cincinnati Reds attempt to win their first game of the season in Boston today after weather forced them to cancel yesterday's doubleheader with the Braves.

The Reds have yet to break into the win column under a Boston dateline because the Braves pasted them eight straight on their only other visit to this city.

Manager Bill McKechnie said his mound choice lay between Ray Starr and Elmer Riddle. Casey Stengel said his man would be either Al Javery or Nate Andrews.

LEWIS CALLS BIVENS BEST HEAVYWEIGHT

But Champ Still Wants To Meet Conn First.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, July 6—Jimmy Bivens of Cleveland, in the eyes of Sergeant Joe Louis, is the best of heavyweight fighters active today.

But the Negro champion considers Billy Conn, the handsome Pittsburgher who almost licked him in 1941, as his No. 1 challenger and declares, "he's the first fellow I want to meet when the wars are over." He rates 24-year-old Tami Mauriello, of New York No. 2 among the men who would like to lift his crown.

Joe looked in perfect fighting trim, despite his 220 pounds, as he climbed into the ring here to referee three rounds of amateur boxing with more than 100 persons lured to the bouts by a magic name.

"Sure I want to continue fighting but a lot depends on the war," Louis said. "There is a possibility it might retire me, but I don't want to say one way or the other."

About Bivens, Louis said: "Jimmy is a real good fighter who doesn't always put out all he's got. I've watched him and I could see a spot that he's got the stuff. He just seems to pace himself well enough to stay ahead of the other fellow."

JAPS FORCED TO USE NAVY

U. S. Gains One Objective in Renewed Campaign in Solomons.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 6—Official reports of a naval battle in the Central Solomons indicated today the South Pacific offensive was rapidly gaining one of its most important objectives—that of forcing the Japanese navy to come out and fight.

Even in the absence of word that major forces were engaged, this new "battle of Kula gulf" was regarded here as of great significance, for it showed that the Japanese felt compelled to accept the challenge and risk a part of their South Pacific fleet in an effort to check the American advance.

The situation appeared to be somewhat similar to that during the fighting for Guadalcanal last fall which culminated in the decisive battle of mid-November when American task forces smashed a Japanese sea borne drive to reconquer the island and thereby secure it for American occupancy.

Considered Important

While the fighting for Munda, on which the Kula gulf action is an essential part, is similar in many respects to the campaign for Guadalcanal, it apparently is the reverse of the situation at Attu island in the North Pacific just a few weeks ago. The Japanese were never willing to risk any of their naval forces in those waters. Hence it may be assumed that the enemy regards the objectives for which the forces of General Douglas MacArthur and Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., now are battling as far more important.

While American official sources have not commented on the Japanese fleet dispositions, the best opinion here is that the enemy's naval strength is divided about equally between a home fleet based on Japan itself and a South Pacific force probably based most of the time on Truk island. Any great weakening of the South Pacific force probably would strain Japanese defense over the entire area.

Japanese Expected To Bolster Air Force

By The Associated Press

UNITED STATES AIR HEADQUARTERS, GUADALCANAL, July 2—(Delayed)—The United States air command acknowledged tonight the Japanese probably will bring large plane reinforcements into the Solomons war theater despite the thorough shellacking they took from American fighters during the first three days of the New Georgia offensive.

The enemy appeared now to be recovering from the initial surprise of the offensive and plenty of more trouble was looked for as the Japanese increase their effort to pound American ground troops with bombs on Rendova and New Georgia islands.

THREE BURGLARIES LISTED WITH POLICE

Business Places Entered Over Double Holiday.

Burglaries at three Marion business establishments were reported to city police over the double holiday.

The first came about 7:50 Saturday morning when an employe of the Farmer's Implement store on North Main street told police the store had been broken into. Police investigated and found entrance had been gained through a large south door. They found a desk had been ransacked and $40 taken from it. Police reported the theft took place some time between Saturday midnight and the time of the report.

Early Sunday morning police were informed the Public Cafe on West Center street had been entered the second time in two weeks. Police went to the cafe and found 106 pennies had been taken from cigaret packages. A 10-year-old boy was later arrested by police when he was found on Owens street with the pennies in his possession. He was taken to the county detention home, where he is awaiting appearance in juvenile court. It was reported the boy had been before juvenile court authorities previously and that efforts would be made to have him placed in the state institution for the feeble minded.

Late last night police received a report that the LaMar restaurant on West Center street had been looted of $20 in merchandise about 10:30. When patrolmen arrived at the cafe they found entrance had been effected by knocking out two basement windows in the north side of the building.

NURSE'S AIDE COURSE TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

Red Cross Sessions To Be Held at Smith Clinic.

Final plans are being made for the opening of the second class in the Red Cross nurse's aide course on Wednesday night at the Frederick C. Smith clinic on East Church street, Mrs. J. A. Dodd, chairman of the nurse's aide committee of the Red Cross, announced today.

Twenty-seven applicants are registered for the classes which will be held two nights a week, Monday and Wednesday, at 7 p. m. Plans also are under way for the organization of an afternoon class, but to date there is not a sufficient number of registrants, Mrs. Dodd stated.

Mrs. H. F. Ogden, registered nurse, will be the instructor for the two classes. The lectures and theory will be given at the clinic where ample space and facilities are available for the demonstrations. The practice will be conducted at the City hospital where the class will be under the supervision of Miss Thelma Malo, assistant superintendent. Original plans were to conduct the class at Red Cross headquarters but these were changed because of the large number of registrants.

Both the evening and afternoon classes will be completed before the opening of school, the sponsors state.

CORONER GIVES VERDICT OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 6—A verdict of accidental death from a gunshot wound was returned Monday by Coroner Lowell Mathby in the death of F. Everson Powell, 63, prominent Columbus lumber dealer and real estate operator, who was found Friday morning at his home, Beverly Farms, near Sparta, with a rifle bullet through his head.

Mr. Powell was found dead in the closet of his bedroom by his wife, a few minutes after he had told her he was going to get his rifle from the closet to shoot crows. He kept his guns in a closet off his bedroom.

GERMANS CHARGE BRITAIN WITH WAR ON CIVILIANS

Destroyers of Warsaw, Rotterdam and Coventry Irked by Attacks.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 6—The Germans who laid waste to Warsaw, Rotterdam, and Coventry climaxed their sympathy-seeking campaign against the bombing of their industrial cities with a foreign office white paper today charging Britain with "sole guilt" for what it termed attacks on civilians.

Without mentioning the 40,000 British civilians killed and the 120,000 wounded in German air raids on Britain, the white paper asserted that "German efforts have failed to affect the determination of the enemy to use air terror as a plan thought out in the last detail for the destruction of Europe."

Asserting that the destruction of towns and the deaths of thousands of women and children were a "flaming accusation against the two mainly responsible for the war—Churchill and Roosevelt"—the Nazi white paper threatened to exact "eye for eye, tooth for tooth" reprisals.

The white paper also asserted that bombings in the Polish campaign at the start of the war were directed only at military objectives and cited Hitler's alleged orders to the German airforce in reply to President Roosevelt's appeal against the bombing of civilians. Hitler, the white paper asserted, told the air force to limit its activities to military targets.

Golfers Busy Over Holiday

Special Events at Both Marion Courses During Week-End and Monday Draw Large Crowds.

Both Marion golf courses received the heaviest play of the 1943 season over the double holiday. Some 90 to 100 golfers toured the Mar-O-Del public links Monday while about 75 played at the Marion Country club, both Sunday and Monday.

Mar-O-Del's tournament season officially opened Sunday with the playing of a handicap tourney for both men and women. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fogle monopolized both events as Mr. Fogle won the men's 18-hole handicap with 80-16-64 and Mrs. Fogle took first honors in the women's nine-hole competition with 51-7-44.

Bob Baker and Leo Oberlander finished in a dead heat for runner up spot with net 70's. Each shot a gross of 76, two over par, and combined this mark with a six handicap for 70. The first place winners in both the women's and men's event and second place sharers in the men's section received golf supplies for prizes.

Wins Flag Tourney

Dr. D. W. Brickley won the flag tournament at the Country club Sunday afternoon. He received a war bond for his first place efforts. Carl Danner and E. J. Pierce tied for runner-up position. They were awarded golf merchandise.

A blind bogey tourney, operated on a slightly different basis than usual, was played at the Country club layout Monday afternoon. Instead of having only one division and drawing individual handicaps at random, contestants were divided into three brackets, according to their final 18-hole rounds.

The first bracket was intended to be for golfers who finished with 18-hole marks between 70 and 80. However, the initial division had to be for 80 to 90 linksmen since no below 80 scores were posted by tourney competitors. J. B. Bray won first place in that bracket with an 88. John Glackin, Jack Wels and John Dugan deadlocked for second spot with 84's. The latter mark was the lowest posted by any golfer in the bogey event.

R. T. Lewis won the bogey for 90 to 100 golfers with a mark of 94. Jim Mayden, recent hole-in-one maker, placed second with a 92.

The bracket for 100 to 110 scorers was jointly won by E. G. Seifert and Paul Glackin, who tied for first place. Jack Kennedy was second with 106.

Ringer Tourney Winner

B. J. Schymanski won the singles tournament for June at the Country club with an 18-hole score of 81. H. A. Petrich was second with 83 and J. B. Bray third, with 84. Monthly ringer events will be played for the remainder of the season at the Country club. The various best scores on each hole will be toted in September to figure winners for the season ringer tournament.

In addition to golfing at the Country club over the holidays, two buffet suppers were served in the club house by Mrs. Andy K. Dewar, wife of the club professional. Many men's composed of club members were also held in the surrounding woods and grounds of the club. Various forms of entertainment were also presented Sunday and Monday for the benefit of the children of members.

Another Successful
PUBLIC SALE
And extra cash to buy Bonds. We take great pleasure in saying WE thank you. To the large attendance who took so much interest in our public sale, which was held at the Williams Auction Room, 130 E. Center, Friday, July 2. For many months we have taken much interest in reading the ads—cash for complete furnishings of your home by Col. F. E. Williams, and now we can say he really means what he says. When we called Col. Williams to look at our goods and give us an appraisal, he walked through the house, and remarked, "If you will have a public sale, I will advance you $300 on the items you wish to sell." We took his check and the day of the sale we received another check from Mr. Williams and we were so well pleased that we invested the total amount in WAR BONDS—and now we are glad to join the hundreds of satisfied customers who say "It pays to see Williams for your public sale" and it is a great pleasure for us to recommend Col. F. E. Williams and Col. C. B. Purdy as hard working, honest auctioneers who know the value of the goods they are selling.
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Egan

We Thank You
"Yes, we take great pleasure in saying. Thanks to each of you who made our sales successful, including the auctioneer."
Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Zent
937 Henry St.

SORRY!
Yes, I am very sorry that I cannot sell tractors, refrigerators, washers, bed springs and other items which come under the OPA ceiling price to the highest bidder at an auction sale, or to individuals at private sale at prices they wish to pay. The OPA has set the price and advise us that when two or more persons want the item at the ceiling price we should draw names to see who gets the said item being sold, and clioneers and individuals of this applies to dealers, auctheir own articles. I wish you luck in getting the things you need, and remember, the more Bonds we buy the quicker Victory will be ours.

FEW STOCKS HIT NEW HIGHS

Utilities Get Some Attention But Traders Generally Are Cautious.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 6—Buyers were selective and more or less wary in today's stock market and, while scattered utilities and specialities edged into new high ground for the year or longer with comfortable advances.

War optimism continued as a supporting factor.

Prominent on the gaining side were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, North American, Consolidated Edison, Woolworth, Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak. Backward at intervals were Anaconda, Goodrich, J. C. Penney, Montgomery Ward and Caterpillar tractor.

RYE PRICE GAINS FIVE CENTS TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 6—All deliveries of rye advanced the permissable five cents a bushel daily maximum within an hour of the close today on buying prompted by the prospect that corn ceilings would be lifted.

Traders reported urgent short covering and said that even at the sharp advance in prices offerings failed to increase appreciably.

Oats advanced into new high ground on the strength in rye.

Wheat scored good gains in sympathy with rye and the bread cereal was in demand by distilling interests and flour mills.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I SAT UP ABRUPTLY, and my husband slipped his arm around my shoulders. "Steady, old dear!" he admonished me. "This isn't a fire alarm, you know."

"What time is it?" I asked a bit dazedly.

"Quarter of two," he replied. "Dad has arranged with the Western Union office for the boy with the message ostensibly from you to deliver it to Ruth Hayes at one minute of two o'clock. From then on, we'll be on the watch for her."

I swung my feet over the side of the couch and Dicky, stooped and retrieved my shoes.

Tidies Her Hair

"Put out your right foot, please, Madame," he said, and in another half minute my shoes were on. I rose from the couch, and mechanically smoothed my hair back, tucking in the loosened hairpins.

"The well-groomed woman, even when half asleep," Dicky gibed. I put another question.

"Will she telephone, do you think?"

He put his hand into his pocket and drew out a telegraph form.

"Here's the answer to that," he said. "I knew your curiosity would be rampaging around, so I asked Dad to make a copy of the message he sent to her signed with your name."

"Thank you," I said, ignoring the gibe about my curiosity, and taking the form, read its contents.

"To Ruth Hayes," it ran, and following the address came the message:

"Mrs. Bickell too ill to keep her appointment with you. She will come tomorrow morning at the same time if you send me a written message to that effect. No use trying to telephone. The wires to our apartment have been disconnected." Then there followed the signature: "Margaret Graham, Hotel Lansfield."

Madge Approves

I looked up at Dicky with eyes which were filled with malicious enjoyment.

"She won't like that," I said, and Dicky snorted scornfully.

"'Like' is a feeble word," he said. "She'll loathe and abhor it. She'll waste no time getting over here, and she probably has all her plans laid for just such a contingency."

"Katharine's asleep, I suppose," I said, folding the paper and handing it back to him.

"I can't vouch for it," he replied with a grin. "I haven't heard her snore. But Dad turned the next suite over to her three hours ago, and she turned the key in the lock. Beyond that this deponent knoweth naught. What more can I tell you?"

"Everything there is to know!" I told him. "Remember I've been asleep for hours."

Dicky Enumerates

"Well let's see!"—my husband began to tick points off on his fingers—"Dad is in the next room. Two men are on the balcony, and they certainly will be a surprise—and a headache—to Milner, if he's planning to send any strong arm beauties up there in readiness for any summons Ruthie may decide to flash them. I have put a chair in the closet, with a small table on it, and reposing on the table—are (a) a paper cup of ice water,—if you spill it, there won't be any sound of breaking glass; (b.) a package of cough lozenges; (c.) the clothespins for your nose of which I spoke before. If you have an impulse to sneeze, also some of my largest handkerchiefs. And if I hear a cough or a sneeze, or even a loud breath out of you, watch the judge put on the black cap, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul, for I won't."

I drew myself up and gave him what would have been a withering look if my twitching lips had not spoiled it.

"You're repeating yourself," I told him. "I've heard most of that once before from you. What else do you know?"

The Waiting Period

"Nothing, you ingrate," he said, "except that Dad will come in here as soon as I've told him you're awake, and we'll all sit and invite our souls, also twiddle our fingers until his listening post sounds the alarm."

"I'm awake now," I said, seating myself in a comfortable chair, "so you don't need to delay telling him."

"Okay," he said, and the next minute my father was in the room, and, with Dicky, had seated himself near me. But it was nearly half past two when two short knocks, thrice repeated, sounded on the door.

"That's Collins," my father said, rising and crossing the room swiftly. "The Hayes woman must be in the building."

* * *

EVERY MUSCLE of my body was tense as I strained my ears to hear the colloquy at the door. The voices of my father and Collins, the night elevator man who was loyal to him and not to Milner, the hotel manager, were so muted, however, that I could hardly hear a murmur, let alone distinguished words.

But when my father returned to us, he had news.

"Ruth Hayes is in the hotel," he said. "At least Collins says that a woman answering the description of her I gave him, has just gone into Milner's apartment. There were two men with her."

"Ahal a bodyguard!" Dickey said. "Wonder if she'll bring 'em here with her, or if Milner will try to deploy them on the balcony?"

A Surprise for Them

"He—and they—will have a surprise if he does," my father said. "My men out there are exceedingly able citizens. But I think we had better take our places. Margaret, I am going to lay a stern command upon you. No matter what happens, you are not to come from that closet, or utter a sound which will betray your presence there. Richard, I will go into the bedroom now, leaving the door slightly ajar, but putting out the lights. I will station myself near a closet, so that I can slip into it, if by any change Ruth Hayes should make an unexpected dash into that room."

"Do just as you see fit, sir," Dicky said, "but," he finished grimly, "she won't make any unexpected dashes. I'll give you my word on that."

I was thankful that my father had not asked me to give him my word that I would obey the command he had just laid upon me. My satisfaction was short-lived, however, for when my father had left the room, my husband eyed me speculatively as he put out his hand to help me to my feet. He said nothing, however, until, with his hand beneath my elbow, he had piloted me to the closet I had selected, and seated me in the chair he had taken in there for my use.

Won't Require Promise

"Dad forgot to make you promise silence," he whispered then, his voice muffled by the garments hanging in the closet. "And you'd consider one to me as made under duress, so I'm not having any. But by the Lord Harry, if you come out of that closet, even if Ruth Hayes is chopping my head off—you'll wish you hadn't!"

"I wouldn't dream of interfering," I answered demurely; "why should I?"

Dicky tweaked my nose as he switched off the light and backed out of the door, leaving it ajar as I had asked, but with the slight opening concealed by the heavy curtain just inside.

"Pleasant dreams!" he gibed lightly, as he went back to his chair, but I knew that he was as tense as I was, as he sat waiting for the next move in the drama that was unfolding.

It was at least ten minutes, however, before the expected knock, an imperative one, sounded on the door. Through the crack in the closet door, I saw my husband rise, thrust his right hand in his coat pocket where I knew a small loaded silencer pistol was concealed. Then he walked steadily to the outer door and opened it the length of the night chain.

"Good evening," he said,—"or rather, good morning! May I ask your names?"

His voice was suave, but there was a steely ring in it only there when danger of some kind is in the offing, and when it is necessary for him to be unusually alert.

"Our names don't matter, mister," a heavy masculine voice replied. "We're here simply because a lady wants to come in to talk to you."

"A lady?" Dicky repeated, and I noted the artistic high-pitched interest in his voice. "How delightful! Where is she?"

Ruth Hayes Here

"Right here." It was unmistakably now, the voice of Ruth Hayes, as she evidently came close to the door. "I have something most important to tell you and ask of you,—a matter of life and death."

"Really?" he countered with apparent interest. "How intriguing! Life or death,—to me or to you?"

"I'll tell you when I'm inside," was her answer. "Will you let me in?"

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, July 7

WHILE things on all planes of endeavor may continue at high tempo, urged on by energies, forces and faculties greatly stimulated and pushing on toward the attainment of progress or goals, yet there may be sudden disruptions, strange reversals or peculiar quirks, calling for determination, shrewd management and quick action to avert disintegration. Erratic impulses, nervous strain or overtaxed energies might prove detrimental. Maintain poise and practical constructive methods and sound plans for definite success and satisfaction.

Those whose birthday it is may be keyed up to high tempo for grasping most promising circumstances for putting the future with its activities, progress and practical achievements on an enduring and solid basis. There may be a disruptive or disintegrating forces to cope with, arising suddenly and having strange or peculiar angles to manipulate with skill and ingenuity. Keep calm, balanced and practical and all should succeed.

A child born on this day although having high ideals, with originality, initiative and constructive ability, may be sensitive, overwrought or erratic, with reactions on its success and happiness.

Groups from Evangelical Churches Hold Picnic

The Women's Missionary societies of four Marion Evangelical churches met for an annual picnic in Garfield park Thursday. Women of the Calvary W.M.S. were hostesses. Mrs. O. D. Myers conducted devotions. Mrs. Perry Stone and Mrs. George Leedom offered prayer. Mrs. Raymond Donough presented accordion solos. Norma Jean and Marjorie Dearth gave readings. Mrs. J. W. Baker gave the lesson study and Rev. R. L. Sutherland of the Greenwood church dismissed with prayer. Societies taking part besides the Calvary group were those of the Oakland, Greenwood and rural Salem churches.

Annie Rooney

By Darrell McClure

MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS - I GOTTA GET THIS SHOE FIXED RIGHT AWAY!
OH-THANKS - THEY LOOK JUST LIKE THEY WERE NEW SHOES AGAIN
THEY MAY NOT LOOK FANCY, BUT THEY'LL WEAR LIKE IRON
GEE, ZERO - I GUESS I'M THE LUCKIEST KID IN THE WHOLE WORLD - I WAS LUCKY TO GET MY SHOES FIXED FOR FORTY-FIVE CENTS
AN' THE LUCKIEST PART OF IT ALL IS, I HAD FORTY-FIVE CENTS TO PAY THE COBBLER - JUST LIKE A RICH MILLIONAIRE WOULD
GEE, IT'S HOT - I FEEL LIKE I WAS WALKIN' 'ROUND INSIDE A GREAT, BIG OVEN
GLOOYOSKY, ZERO - WILLYA LOOK AT THAT SWELL LOAD OF HAY? LET'S RUN AWFUL FAST
NICE AN' COOL HERE? GEE IT'S JUST LIKE SITTIN' DOWN UNDER A BIG, SHADY TREE
IT'S BETTER THAN A TREE OR AN UMBRELLA, 'CAUSE A LOAD OF HAY CARRIES THE SHADE RIGHT ALONG TO THE PLACE YOU'RE GOIN' TO

To carry on the continuity of the stories of The Star's comic strips, both yesterday's and today's installments of Flash Gordon, Thimble Theater, Tillie the Toiler, Tim Tyler and Annie Rooney appear on this page. Others omitted today to provide space for these double installments will be resumed tomorrow. On the classified advertising page are two installments of The Gumps.

Flash Gordon

DANCE FOR US, GIRL-SLAVES!
NO!
MY SPARK-GUN WILL HELP YOU!
KING DOROM INTERFERES - BUT THE MISCHIEF-LOVING ELVINS DEMAND THEIR MALICIOUS FUN -
STOP!
OH, NO, YOU DON'T! WE WANT OUR DANCE!
7-5
DOROM IS HELPLESS TO INTERFERE, AS KROM SHOOTS SPARKS AT THE GIRLS' FEET -
DANCE, DALE, DANCE!
YOU DANCE, TOO, MY PRETTY LITTLE SLAVE-QUEEN!
NEVER!
YOU VICIOUS RAT, YOU'VE HIT THAT POOR GIRL WITH YOUR SHOCK GUN!
7-6

Tim Tyler

By Lyman Young

IT WORKS! THE HARMONICA SOUND VIBRATIONS ARE OPENING THE STATUE BASE!
SAY! THESE STEPS LEAD DOWN TO A TUNNEL, RUNNING CLEAR UNDER THE PARK
BETTER KEEP RIGHT BEHIND ME - WE DON'T KNOW WHAT'S BEYOND -
IF THIS KEEPS ON, WE'LL SOON BE DIRECTLY BENEATH THAT CLOSED FOREIGN EMBASSY
LOOK - SPIRAL STEPS AHEAD!!
HEY! DEAD END!
NOW WHAT HAPPENS?
WELL! HOW DO YOU LIKE THAT? WE FOLLOW A SECRET TUNNEL THROUGH A HIDDEN STATUE ENTRANCE IN EMBASSY PARK AND WIND UP AT A DEAD END! IT DOESN'T JELL
BUT IT'S GOT TO!
THE MAN WE SAW ENTER THIS PASSAGE WENT SOMEWHERE - MAYBE WE PASSED -
WAIT! LOOK!
THAT SLIDING PANEL JUST OPENED!
G-GOLLY! I MUST HAVE TOUCHED A CONCEALED SPRING WHEN I LEANED AGAINST THE ROCKS
G-GREAT GRAVY! DO YOU SEE WHAT I SEE?

Thimble Theater

POPEYE, YER FEELIN' SAD ON ACCOUNT OF YER SWEETIE'S MARRYIN' WIMPY - AIN'TCHA, POPEYE?
YER MELANKONKUS!
PIPE DOWN, SWEE'PEA
WELL, THIS TIME NEX' WEEK SHE WILL BE WIMPY'S WIFE
AW, PIPE DOWN
AT'SA LAFF!
"OH, YAS, INDEED, I YAM MRS. J. WELLINGTON WIMPY - LOOK WHAT I GOT FOR A HUSBING"
I SEZ, PIPE DOWN!!!
OKAY
OKAY
OKAY
IF THEY GET MARRIED, IT SERVES 'EM BOTH RIGHT - THAT'S HOW I FEEL ABOUT IT
YEAH, BUT SHE AIN'T YER SWEETIE
SHE AIN'T NOBODY'S
BLAM
SHE'S JUS' A FRICKLE DAME WIT' GOOFY IDEARS - AT'S ALL
PIPE DOWN!
BLAM
SHE DITCHED YA AN' SHE'LL DITCH 'IM
I YAM FINISHED WIT' DAMES
THEY'S ALL ALIKE
STOP TRY'NA ACK LIKE YA WAS GROWN UP
SUMBODY ORTA ACK LIKE THEY WAS ON ACCOUNT'A YOU AIN'T
HAW HAW
BLAM

Tillie the Toiler

By Rus Westover

BENNY'S SO MODEST - IF MAC HAD SO MANY MEDALS HIS HEAD WOULD SWELL
TILLIE'S DREAM
WHY, MAC! YOUR HEAD'S ENORMOUS!
SURE, SEE THE MEDALS I WON IN TUNISIA
BENNY! YOUR HEAD HAS SHRUNK
SURE
MAC'S GOT SEVEN MEDALS AND WE ONLY GOT SIX
I SAW BLOWHARD BENNY OUTSIDE
DID YOU? HE'S SUCH A HERO AND SO MODEST
MISS JONES, LET ME HIDE IN YOUR BOOTH, QUICK
WHY, SURE, ER
THERE'S A FELLOW AFTER ME - THE HERO OF TUNISIA, SCARED LIKE THIS
HE'S A REPORTER AND HE WANTS AN INTERVIEW
